Yugoslavia Bolts

As everybody knows, dogs are born to hunt and the bigger the crowd the better the act they put on. All of you saw the Nevada County Coon Hunters Association float in the Third District Livestock Show parade here Tuesday . . . the one where the dogs have a coon up a tree and are leaping and barking at it.

Well, there were thousands of people watching the dogs right then — and they made the act strictly good. But I saw 'em going home to Prescott after the parade . . . still on the float . . . with the coon still up the tree . . . but this time no one paying them any attention. And the dogs (who probably played around with that coon when they got home anyway) were lying around the float yawning — like a tired vaudeville troupe after the curtain has gone down and the cheering has died away.

Explaining foreign exchange to the man in the street is a tough job, but the devaluation of the British pound by one-third, to $2.80, puts foreign exchange in the news — and I have a local example which may help you understand it. Back in 1933 the federal government closed down every bank in the U. S. A. for about a week — and everybody suddenly found themselves virtually without money.

The Star issued for payroll purposes a limited amount of script, redeemable on either advertising bills or subscription accounts. Since the newspaper brings more money into town than it sends out, the script was perfectly solvent, and the merchants accepted it.

But we hit an important snag — how to pay life insurance premiums, payable in dollars, in distant cities. The small amount of actual cash we retained in the office was rationed out for this purpose, employees using it to buy postal money orders.

But supposing the bank crisis had gone on forever, then each city would have had its own local scrip-exchange system — and when it came to paying for something in another city we would have a situation comparable to the world's foreign exchange. For behind a nation's money is its production goods. And Great Britain today is cutting the value of its pound sterling for the same reason, say, that in our imaginary example back in 1933 a cotton-producing city might have had to reduce the value of its local scrip when buying an automobile from Detroit. . . because Detroit said its automobiles were a more desirable item than our cotton, and therefore its scrip was the more valuable of the two media of exchange.

Somehow we have more confidence in a fellow's protestations when we discover that he actually voted in the election the way he talked in the campaign. Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia has been saying some harsh words against Russia, and Russia has retaliated in kind — but the clincher occurred Tuesday when the United Nations held its election for president. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines was elected. Russia wanted Vladimir Clementis, Czech foreign minister, for the job. He got only five votes. Formerly the Russian Communist bloc always polled six votes. They are saying now that Yugoslavia cast its ballot against Russia. And that does seem to be a fact.

Boots, Saddle
Quadrille Is
Rodeo Feature

The flying hoofs of 16 horses and the colorful western attire of the Texarkana Boots and Saddle club's famous "Quadrille" is a featured attraction at the rodeo nightly at the Third District Livestock Show.

The exciting "square-dance on horse-back" will be performed Wednesday and Thursday nights. Horses and riders sweep into the rodeo arena at a signal from the "caller," Floyd (Dewar) Manning, Jr., and the show is performed in time to the square dance recording of "The Waggoner's Reel." Riders in the quadrille are: Mr. and Mrs. Leon Arnold, Miss Betty Hardy and J. G. Harlan, Mrs. K Lee Williams and R. B. Thomson, Miss Sue Burrus and L. M. (Shorty) Robertson, Miss Hazel Jones and Mac Lawler, Miss Jandell Potts and Eddie Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gunter, Miss Betty Lee Nolen and Danny Coffman.

All riders are from Texarkana and are members of the Texarkana Boots and Saddle club, an organization of 70 families interested in horses.

An excited fellow employee after seeing Whitted collapse had called police and asked for "help for the watchman."

Trade Union
Threats Bring
British Crisis

London, Sept. 21 — (AP) — Britain's labor government faced a political crisis in its own ranks today. Trade unions threatened to revolt against higher prices resulting from money devaluation.

Outside Britain, repercussions of the drastic slash in the British pound's value continued to jolt the world's markets. Belgium became the 22nd nation to cheapen its money by slicing the Belgian franc's value 12 per cent.

France proposed to Italy, Holland and Belgium that the four countries act together to ease trade barriers and make their currencies freely interchangeable.

The treat of a British political crisis was raised by the general council of the trades union congress, whose eight million members are the backbone of the ruling Labor party.

The TUC council — instead of endorsing government policy as it has in the past — decided last night it "could not pass on the necessity of devaluation." It called for a assurance from economic Chief Sir Stafford Cripps that the government would make every effort to limit price rises which will be sure to come from cheaper money.

Observer regarded the TUC reluctance to take a positive stand on devaluation as evidence of a split in labor's own ranks.

TUC leaders so far have backed the government's wage-freeze policy against heavy pressure from their rank and file members who have been demanding higher wages.

Now the TUC leaders are on the spot. Will they support the government in denying wage boosts and the risk of being tossed out of office by their own union members? Or will they finally go along for higher wages?

Cripps has warned that wage boosts will largely nullify the benefits of devaluation which is aimed at selling goods at cheaper prices in the United States.

Prime Minister Attlee summoned his cabinet ministers to a meeting tomorrow to discuss the political crisis that has been piled on top of his government's economic crisis.

The Belgian cabinet early today sliced its exchange rate to 50 francs to $1. The previous rate had been 43.82 to $1. The pound-franc rate was set at 140 francs to the pound. Previously it had been 176.50 to the pound.

Luxembourg, which forms an economic union with Belgium, was expected to devalue its money to the same extent today.

In Germany, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the new west German republic, said it would be necessary to devalue to West mark now worth 33 cents.

Greece and Iraq were other countries that joined the devaluation stampede yesterday.

Parade Had
'Everything'
Most Agree

An estimated 12,000 to 15,000 persons lined the streets of Hope yesterday afternoon to see a huge 2 1/2 mile-long parade, the biggest and best ever held at a Third District Livestock Show here. Hope High school band headed the entire parade.

The parade had everything including Governor Sid McMath in western regalia astride a palomino at the head of the parade, floats galore, hundreds of horses, motorized units of the Arkansas National Guard, planes, farm tractors and farm equipment and children with pets, and beautiful girls. The parade ran something on this order:

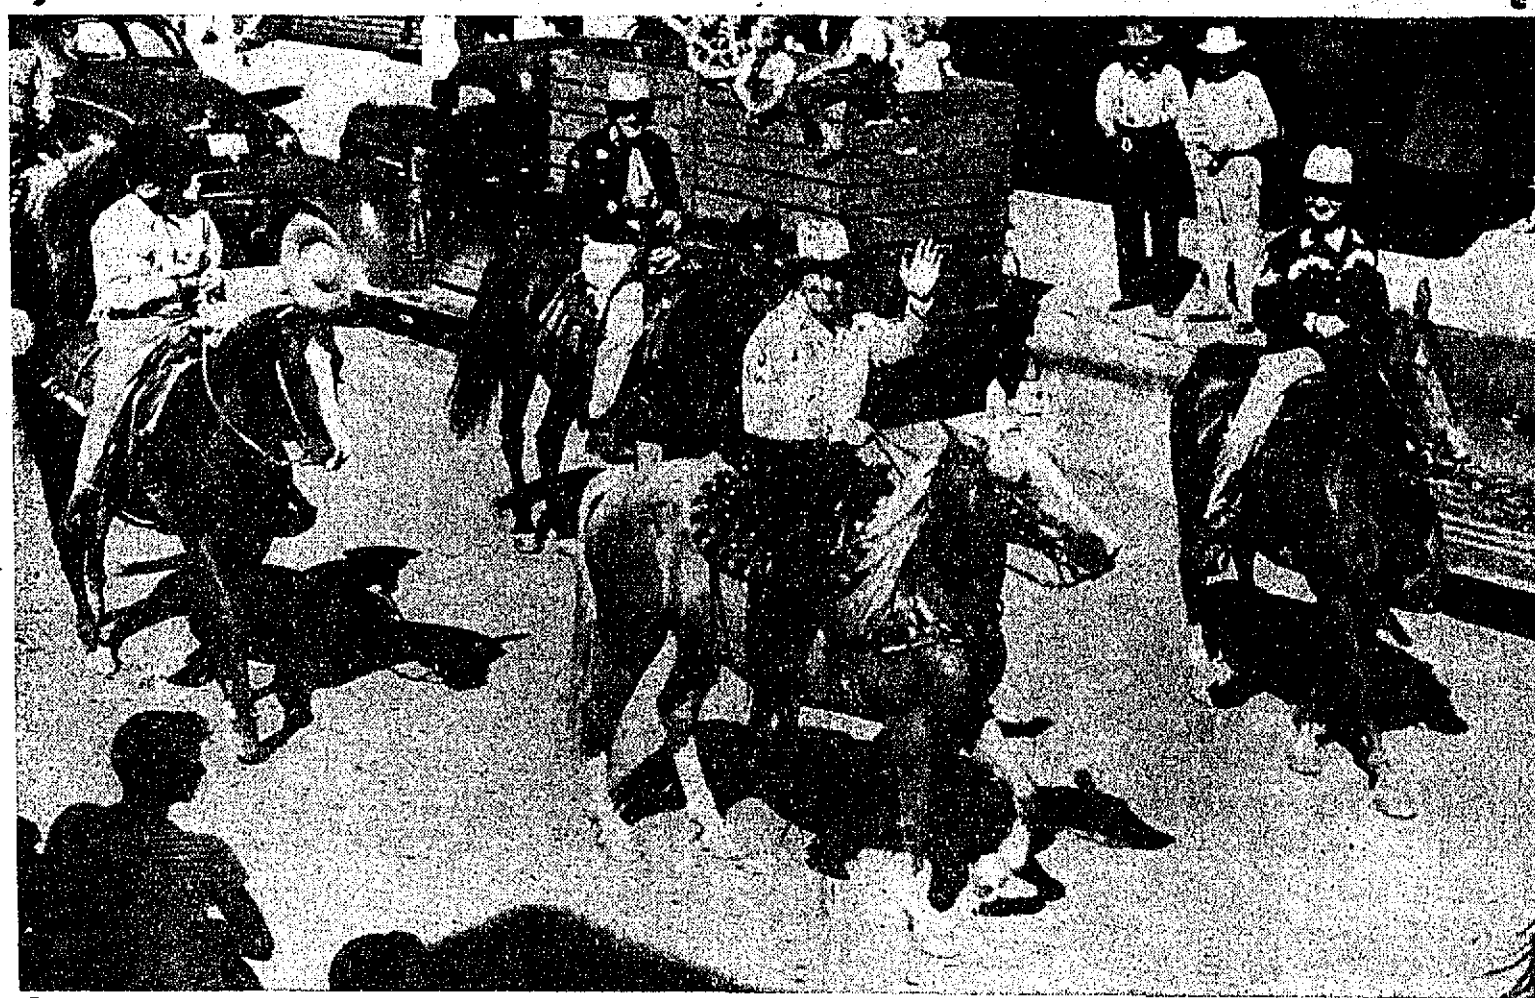

Governor McMath heading 17 members carrying banners bearing the names of the 17 counties in the Third District. Contestants for rodeo queen and Miss Hope. Units of the Prescott National Guard and the Maynolia A&M college band which included Everett Shaw, Ray Kilgore and M. R. Kavar, 15 4-5 seconds.

Next came Magnolia Roundup club. Then came floats from complete group, Haynesville, La. Roundup club, Lafayette Co. Roundup club. Then came floats from commercial houses, and industries with Prescott High school band and the Nevada Coon Hunters Association float in between.

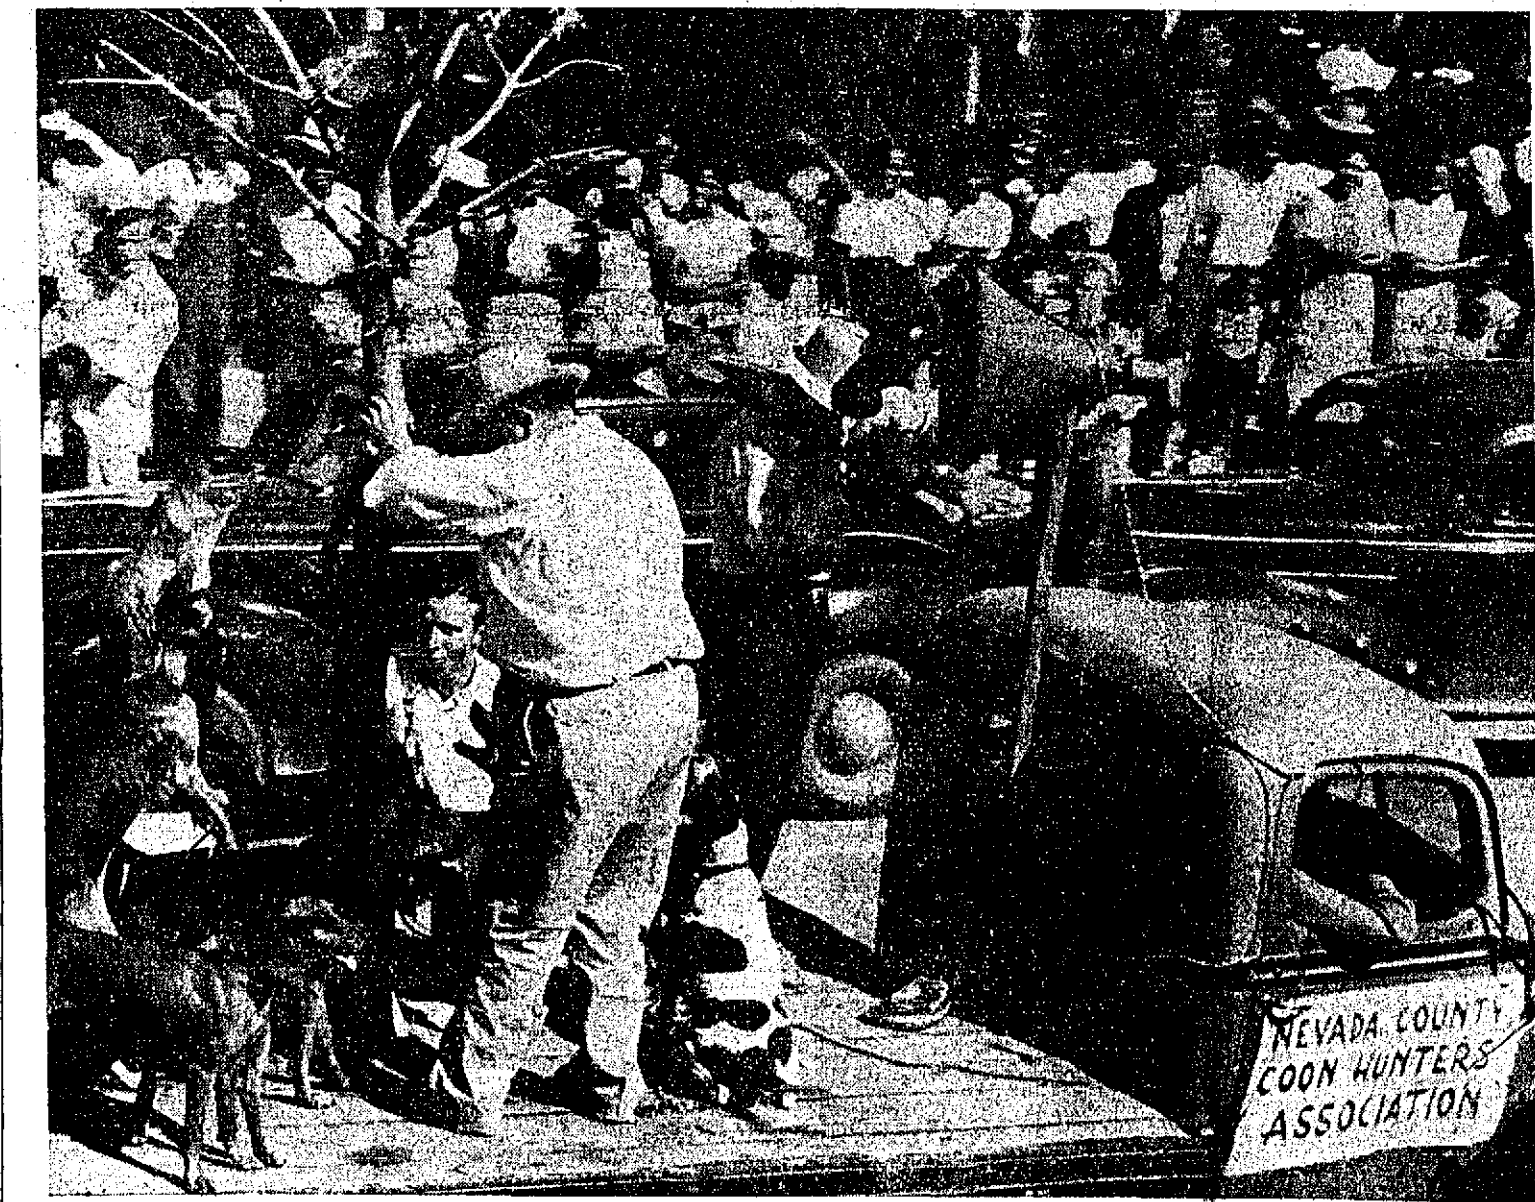

Veteran organization floats, motorized units of the Arkansas National guard with a flight of P-51's overhead, Junior High school band, pets, bicycle brigade, scouts, more industrial and commercial floats, Hope Roundup club and chuck wagon, small horses, auto mobiles, trucks, tractors, farm equipment, oil dealers and others. Hundreds of horsemen were placed at about block intervals.

Following the parade yesterday afternoon and last night the showgrounds were seething with visitors. The carnival midway, stock barns, exhibit hall were over flowing and the rodeo performed to some 4500.

Advancing in the Queen's contest last night were Miss Hazel Lawler of Texarkana and Mary Daniels of Waldo. They will compete tonight with Emma Louise Downs of Columbus and Zasu Jones of Nashville for Rodeo Queen title and the winner will receive a horse, saddle and bridle valued at $250.

Mississippi Co.
Farm Projects
Goes Bankrupt

Little Rock, Sept. 21 — (AP) — A cooperative farming project started in Mississippi county several years ago under sponsorship by the department of agriculture has gone bankrupt.

Federal Judge Thomas C. Trimble yesterday ordered that all assets of the Misso Homestead Association, Inc., be placed in the hands of the court for payment to creditors.

Bankruptcy proceedings against the organization have been pending in federal court since March 11, 1947.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney David Walker said the federal government sought bankruptcy after it became evident in 1944 that the farm cooperative was insolvent.

Lewis Ready to Talk About Contracts

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 21 — (AP) — John L. Lewis turned to vital contract talks with northern and western coal operators today after serving a blunt "pay up" ultimatum to southern mine owners.

As coal pits across the nation remained idle for the third straight day, Lewis' United Mine Workers union gave notice that it would not bargain further with the southern miners until the operators have paid up their royalty contributions to the miners' health and welfare fund.

U. M. W. Secretary Treasurer John Owen announced that the negotiators should be broken off while Lewis' 480,000 soft and hard coal miners are out on strike. But few expected that issue to be pressed hard.

Instead, most thought Lewis now would begin to bargain in earnest for a new contract to replace the one which expired June 30.

The miners walked off on their own hook last Monday, after the trustees of the miners' welfare and retirement fund announced suspension of the $100 monthly pensions and distress payments.

Lewis, who is one of the trustees, blamed the action on southern operators who were withholding their 2 1/2 cents-a-ton payments to the fund.

The U. M. W. chief said default of payments for July and August had crippled the fund, which now has less than $14,000,000 left of the more than $150,000,000 collected since 1948.

The northern and western operators have said they are continuing to pay the royalties, and Owen confirmed that.

Bad George Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company and spokesman for the operators here, said Lewis' "profligate spending" of the welfare fund had exhausted it, and not the decision of a few southern operators to stop the payments when their contract with Lewis expired.

Tokyo Rose to Hear Fate
This Week

San Francisco, Sept. 21 — (UP) — Tokyo Rose may learn before the week is over whether she committed treason with her broadcasts to U. S. troops.

Defense and prosecution lawyers had almost run out of witnesses, evidence and words after 53 days of trial and a bulky transcript which ran over 6,000 pages or more than 100,000 words.

It was likely that the jury of six men and six women would get a chance to vote on the guilt or innocence of slim, dark-haired Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino by Friday night.

The prosecution summarized its case yesterday and the defense was scheduled to complete its summary today.

The 33-year-old University of California graduate was remarkably calm during her 11-week ordeal in court. Only twice — while undergoing a rigorous cross-examination by Prosecutor Tom DeWitte — did Tokyo Rose lose her oriental stoicism.

Then she buried her head in her hands and sobbed.

All of the evidence was in. Only Judge Michael J. Roche's instructions to the jury stood in the way of the climax to the strange story of Tokyo Rose.

On almost every major point, the defense and prosecution were in complete disagreement. Both sides conceded that Mrs. D'Aquino went to Japan from Los Angeles shortly before Pearl Harbor to "visit relatives."

Opposing counsel agreed she was caught by the war and stayed in Tokyo for the duration and that she worked for Radio Tokyo as an announcer on "Zero Hour," an English-language program of jazz and a slang commentary beamed to Allied troops in the Pacific.

Under the Japanese system of computing ages — a system which well discarded the end of 1949 — a baby born on December 31 would be two years old the next day.

Conciliators
Seek to Avert
Steel Strike

Washington, Sept. 21 — (AP) — Federal labor conciliators trying to avert a steel strike today eyed the reported offer of an employer-paid pension plan in the auto industry for a possible clue to a steel settlement.

A major issue in the steel talks is the industry's insistence that steelworkers pay part of the cost commended by a presidential fact-finding board. The board recommends steel employers pay the whole cost.

That single issue — with President Philip Murray of the CIO steelworkers holding out for the board's view — has knotted up efforts to prevent a steel strike set for Saturday midnight.

Steel companies over the nation ordered operations cut back in preparation for a strike. Bethlehem Steel corporation, second largest producer, began cooling furnaces in all seven plants. Also set to curtail operations today were Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Inland Steel corporation.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest U. S. steel corporation subsidiary, and Jones and Laughlin steel corporation, fourth largest company, said they would begin banking furnaces tomorrow. Almost all companies have begun to hold up shipments of incoming materials.

Closing down a basic steel plant is a slow process if done orderly. From 24 to 48 hours are required to bank furnaces and bring plants to a steady condition.

At Detroit, the Ford Motor Co. announced that it had told the CIO auto workers it was willing to discuss a pension plan and was looking at things "in the light of the (steel) board's recommendations, and their inescapable national effect whether we agree with them or not."

A union source reported that Ford has offered an employer-paid pension plan, within the framework of the presidential steel board's recommendations.

Ilse Koch
Threatens to End Own Life

Heidelberg, Germany, Sept. 21 — (UP) — Ilse Koch, the notorious "witch of Buchenwald," threatened to kill herself if she has to face a war crimes court again, investigators disclosed today.

The concentration camp queen, with a fancy for lampshades made of tattooed human skin, will have her pretext for suicide just a month from now. But skeptical sleuths doubted that the threat was more than bluster for a bid for sympathy.

Now fat and frowsy, Ilse Koch will walk out of Landsberg prison, where Adolf Hitler wrote part of Mein Kampf, on Oct. 18, four days before she becomes 43 years old. She then will have served four years for Buchenwald atrocities.

German police will be waiting at the gates of Landsberg to cart her away to Jauling, Augsburg. There she will await trial on charges of committing against Germans the same atrocities she committed against Allied nationals at Buchenwald.

Attorneys and court officials now are the United States studying and shaping up the precise charges against her. Pending their findings, the date of the trial had not been set.

In the horrific post-war revelations of the horrors in the Nazi concentration camps, the case of Ilse Koch became one of the most infamous.

She was one of 31 persons convicted by U. S. military government court at Dachau in 1947 of war criminality at Buchenwald. Her lampshades of human skin gripped the imagination as a synthesis of all the Nazi atrocities in the concentration camps.

Cotton Spray
Suit Opened in Texarkana

Texarkana, Sept. 21 — (AP) — A lawsuit filed in Circuit court here charges that cotton on some Millers county farms were damaged by weed-killing poison sprayed from an airplane.

Names as defendants were the Reason-Hill Corp., of Jacksonville, Ark., and District Judge E. Harold Beck, on Bowtie county (Texas) a defendant.

The farmers seek a total of $11,075 for damages to the crops. They charged that last July 7, a plane hired by Judge Beck sprayed poison over a wooded area and blew the poison over their fields.

Says People to Vindicate Cedric Worth

Washington, Sept. 21 — (AP) — Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin predicted today that Cedric Worth, who helped touch off the congressional B-36 bomber inquiry, "will be vindicated in the eyes of the American people."

Crommelin so told a navy court of inquiry.

The captain himself is a controversial figure on the fringes of the B-36 investigation. He stirred up a sensation of his own with a charge ten days ago that army and air force brass were trying to wreck the fighting power of the navy.

The court of inquiry is trying to find out whether anyone else in the navy helped Worth, suspended special assistant to Navy Undersecretary Dan Kimball, prepare a once-anonymous memo. The paper hinted at fraud and irregularities in the B-36 bomber program.

Worth was scheduled to testify later today.

Crommelin said he had nothing to do with preparation of the memo and knew of no one else who had lent a hand.

But he read to the court a brief statement which wound up this way:

"However, I wish to reaffirm what I said about the character of Cedric Worth. It is my firm conviction that Cedric Worth was prompted by the highest motives of patriotism and selflessness in whatever action he took to help point out the dangers of the original Tydings bill. It is also my firm belief that when this entire investigation is completed, Cedric Worth will be vindicated in the eyes of the American people."

That statement goes back to one Crommelin gave the press ten days ago complaining that the navy's attack power was being "nibbled to death" through inservice rivalry. The court of inquiry isn't looking into that at all.

Uranium Has Been Found in Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 21 — (UP)—Minute particles of uranium have been found in Alabama, especially in the Tennessee valley section and in valleys northeast of Birmingham, state Geologist Walter B. Jones disclosed today.

"Where there's smoke, there's usually fire," Dr. Jones said. "We are concentrating on these areas in the hope of finding larger veins."

"We have been combing the state with a geiger counter for the past year and a half," he added. Dr. Jones would not disclose the exact locations of the uranium veins but he said they were found in shale and in "some metamorphic rocks in crystalline areas."

DOROTHY DIX

Meddlesome Mother

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man of 28. My father has been out of work and I have gladly kept up the house because I feel that it is my duty. But here is my trouble: My mother absolutely enslaves me and tries to take away from me every vestige of personal liberty. Why do mothers feel that it is their God-given right to boss their children even to the extent of telling them where to go, what to do, what to eat, what to wear, whom to associate with and when to blow their noses? Isn't there some way of making mothers mind their own business after their children are grownup men and women and perfectly able to run their own affairs?

Answer: I'm afraid not, Robert, because you see mothers never find out that their children grow up and get to be intelligent men and women, capable of shaping their own lives. To mother her sons and daughters are always toddling infants who have to be held by the hand and told to eat their spinach, and not to sit up later than 8 o'clock.

And because mother knew best when her children were 3 years old she continues to think she knows best for them as long as they live. That is why she meddles in all of their affairs and thrusts unsought advice upon them and tries to impose her own opinions and habits upon them. It never occurs to her that her children have any minds or personality of their own, or that their tastes and different from hers, and that she can no more steer them along the course they must travel than a landsman could furnish a chart to a pilot a cross the ocean.

One of the wisest women I know says that her tongue is two inches shorter than it used to be, because she has chewed off that much of it keeping from asking her children where they were going and when were they coming back and telling them not to stay out too long. And that woman's children adore her and go to her continually for advice because she never tries to make them do her way. Would that more women would imitate her example.

Dear Miss Dix: Before my marriage I was a successful business woman with money to spend on myself, so I was well dressed and good-looking. I married a man I was much in love with and we have several children, all fine and their father is devoted to them, but he has grown very careless of me. If I buy for myself a new dress or a pair of new shoes or a hat, he will say: "Now you could have done without that," and I buy as little as any woman can get along with. Have never had an allowance or any luxuries since I have been married. I have done a man's work to keep my husband's business going when otherwise it would have failed, but now he is beginning to think himself a martyr in having me for a wife while he is in daily contact with women who have the money to dress well and look attractive. I don't doubt another woman could make my husband a model, but is it worth while for me to try to change him?

Answer: After a wife spoils her husband, it is about as difficult a matter to unspoil him as it is to unscramble eggs. Also, selfishness, is an incurable fault because no one ever recognizes it in himself. However, anything is worth trying once and your best plan is to stage a revolution. Begin it by going out and getting yourself some good clothes and having a session at the beauty parlor. This will probably cause husband to throw a fit, but when he comes out of it and regains consciousness, tell him that you consider that you are worth more to your family as a Lady Love than you are as a domestic slave, and that henceforth you are going to demand a marriage that is run on a fifty-fifty basis instead of one in which he gets all the percentage. Husbands can be reformed, but it takes a woman with the nerve of a lion-tamer to do it.

Dear Miss Dix: We are two girls who are engaged to be married and we want our husbands to change their names to ours instead of our changing our names to theirs. Our reason for this is that our names are more widely known than those of our future husbands are. Would you advise us to do this?

M AND B Answer: It depends upon what the young men think of this. It is up to them to decide the matter. Probably they are as much attached to their names as you are to yours.

In Japan it is very common for a man who marries into a more aristocratic family to take his wife's name and I have often thought myself that when the wife had a euphonious name and the man had an ugly, often ridiculous name, it was a pity for the sake of future generation for the girl's name not to be perpetuated instead of the man's.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Sept. 19 — Eleanor Roosevelt continues her effort to misrepresent her past performance in sympathy with the communists and to clean up her friend, Joe Lash.

In politics there is a zone of polite disagreement. Mrs. Roosevelt enjoyed the courtesies of this sphere for years when she might have been challenged with the short and ugly word. However, Dr. J. B. Matthews, who formerly was chief investigator of the committee on American activities, now accuses her of deliberate lies.

She recently wrote an article which Doctor Matthews has analyzed in detail. He weights a statement that the committee demanded the government service on the ground that he had been affiliated with a subversive group in Seattle. She added that, luckily, the young man worked for a person who never had been in Seattle and that it was a case of mistaken identity.

"The young man is a creature of her fiction," Matthews writes. Moreover, he points out, even if this were a genuine incident, it would have been one error in thousands of cases. She never showed the same alertness to defend persons falsely accused of being Nazis and traitors by the zealous of her domestic power in the government. She did not defend Colonel Lindbergh.

Matthews selects a flat statement by Mrs. Roosevelt for an equally flat denial as a "non-sensical falsehood." The statement reads: "I once asked the committee and the F. B. I. what evidence they had on any of the young people they were talking about. Unabashed, they told me they had none."

"This statement is untrue on its face," he writes. "The committee published voluminous, conclusive evidence of the communist connections of many young people. It did not tell her otherwise."

Matthews points out that the F. B. I. is forbidden by law to give information to unauthorized private individuals. She had no more right to obtain such information from the F. B. I. than the suspected persons themselves.

Coming to a showdown on her claims on behalf of her friend, Lash, Matthews takes up the points with enthusiasm.

"Lash," Matthews writes, "is a 'backed preparation for war from the very beginning,' he says it is false and that she is the peer of the communist gangsters in their notorious falsification of history."

He recalls that Lash, as executive secretary of the American student union, a certified communist front, made a report to its 1936 convention in Chicago, in which he said: "I have every reason to believe that Russia is a communist front."

"However, he will be under a definite handicap. He can hardly run, and he may not be able to swing with his natural follow-through."

Matthews points out that Lash, in a full swing at the plate, is also hampered when he bends down for a ground ball.

Eddie Kazak, the regular third baseman, is still unable to manage the lame left ankle, and Tommy Giaviano is subbing for him.

In addition, Max Lanier, the chunky southpaw who is slated to hurl on today's game, has a sore left shoulder.

Despite these physical handicaps, the Cards think they can take the Brooks.

The home-hungry foes will clash twice today, once in the afternoon and again at night. The third game will be played under the light tomorrow.

Yesterday the Cards knocked out the Philadelphia Phils, 7-5, and the Dodgers sacked the Chicago Cubs, 5-0, to remain a game and a half behind the Redbirds.

The important spotlight away series takes the American league New York Yanks lead by three games. The Yanks turned back Chicago, 3-1, yesterday while runner-up Boston, 2-0, defeated the Red Sox.

Big Don Newcombe (15-7) has been nominated to pitch the day game for Brooklyn (4-3). Preacher Rodriguez has been selected to work the night game for the challenging Dodgers against Harry (The Cat) Breechen (13-9).

Leah Jack Banta pitched the Dodgers to victory over Chicago. He blanked the Cubs on five hits in besting Dodger-tamer Johnny Schmitz.

Offers Pouring in After Pep's Easy Triumph

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 21 — (AP) — Offers poured in on feather-weight Champ Willie Pep today after his easy seven round kayo triumph over Eddie Compo.

Willie emerged unmarked last night.

Al Weill, matchmaker of the International Boxing club of New York offered Pep three opponents for Madison Square Garden bouts, and Lou Viscusi, Pep's manager, said he was considering another for a title fight.

The crown defense would be made against Charley Riley, St. Louis Negro.

For his victory over Compo, a former sparring partner where Pep won the 41 seconds of the seventh, Willie scored financially, too. The uneven match drew a surprisingly large crowd of 10,722 for a gross of $39,931.

Compo, who weighed 124½ in the championship fight, just wasn't in Willie's league.

Cards Confident But Crippled in Flag Drive

By JOE REICHLER

St. Louis, Sept. 21 — (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals were a confident but crippled lot today as they prepared to face Brooklyn's determined Dodgers — the team they must turn back in order to win the national league flag.

During the last couple of days has made the outfit look more like a clinic than a ball club. The latest to be hit was Stan Musial, the man the Cards could most ill afford to lose.

Musial pulled a muscle in his left leg yesterday while beating out an infield hit in the third inning against the Philadelphia Phils. He aggravated the injury when he tried to swing at a pitch.

While Manager Eddie Dyer was optimistic about Musial's availability against the Dodgers today, the fact remained that Stan was in terrific pain last night. The hurt is up near the groin, and there is no doubt it would hamper his swing.

Stan went to sleep with an electric wrapper around his thigh after undergoing a deep therapy treatment.

"I have every reason to believe that Musial may play today," Doc Weaver, Cardinal trainer, said. "However, he will be under a definite handicap. He can hardly run, and he may not be able to swing with his natural follow-through."

Musial is a full swing at the plate, is also hampered when he bends down for a ground ball.

Eddie Kazak, the regular third baseman, is still unable to manage the lame left ankle, and Tommy Giaviano is subbing for him.

In addition, Max Lanier, the chunky southpaw who is slated to hurl on today's game, has a sore left shoulder.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Sept. 21 — (AP) — Two of the losing-EST clubs in pro football, the Chicago Hornets and New York Bulldogs, seem to be coming up with a new season as well as names this season. The Hornets, formerly Rockets, have won three of four games so far. One more than their total victories for the last two seasons. The Bulldogs, formerly the Boston Yanks, have lost five exhibition games to western National league clubs by a total of 36 points and feel they'll do somewhat better in league play.

Coach Charley Ewart thinks two of his tackles, Carl Vogelaar and John Nolan, are all-league possibilities and that's a good start for any team.

The Seat Of Trouble
Starting the 1948 football season, Coach Blair Cherry doctored out his Texas football players in flashy white nylon pants. North Carolina promptly beat some off of them. When it happened again in the Oklahoma game, the Longhorns doctored the new garb and finished a successful season. The Texans thought they had ended the jinx when they got away with wearing white instead of orange in the Orange bowl, so they brought out the nylon slacks to start the 1949 season against Texas Tech. So in the second quarter Bobby Dillon headed for the goal, Bobby Close, Tech back, made a grab for him and tipped the seat of Dillon's fancy pants. Dillon insists he wasn't brought down — it was just an embarrassed pause — but the Longhorns figure on going back to their old orange breeches when they play Temple Saturday.

Sports Before Your Eyes
Applying the fans' choice, can have the job of managing the White Sox any time he wants it — but he doesn't want it. Since he took over the Cleveland Indians, Jim Connelley has been so many times they're calling him the David Harum of hockey. But Jim still thinks Harum is something he needs more of on his head.

Second baseman George Munger, Penn football coach, plans to wear a regular suit on the bench this fall instead of the players' uniform he has affected for years. "Horrible Thought," says Connelley, "I can't imagine a wingback named Bob (Goo Goo) Gant, who has been doing his fancy running. Imagine what the publicity guys will do with the combination of Goo Goo and Choo Choo."

Dots All, Brothers
Johnny Pesky, the Little Red Sox infielder, who has hit only seven home runs in four seasons, belted two in important games against the Yankees this season. (Remember him?) is coach and T-quarterback of an Erie, Pa., semi-pro football team. Pesky has been a four former G. O. P. or I. players working for him. When a reporter was delayed in an effort to interview Ted Whereatt, Indiana U. freshman coach, he yelled across the field, "Hey, Ted, you're going to be here for a while!" Whereatt Whereatt shouted back: "I hope so. I've been here a year and a half and I like it fine."

gled by Ed Miksis, Carl Furillo, walks to Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges and a two-run single by Stan Olm.

The Dodgers added two more markers in the eighth, Robinson stealing home to clinch the rally, Ch. Catcher Mickey Vernon, easily protested Umpire Art Gore's decision on Robinson. Owen bumped Gore to the ground and was tossed out of the game along with Cup Manager Frankie Frisch.

Philadelphia 13 led in five innings against Ken Heintzelman but the Phils roared back and cut the deficit to 6-5 in the seventh. The Cards picked up their final run in the bottom of the eighth when catcher Gerry Stinky kept the Phils away from home the rest of the way.

Allie Reynolds and Joe Page teamed up to pitch the Yanks to victory over the Red Sox. Reynolds, who left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, gained his 17th victory.

Lefty Mel Parnell turned in his 24th victory in besting Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 20 game winner. Lemon held the Red Sox hitless until the sixth, when Parnell started a five-run rally with a single.

The Philadelphia Athletics turned back the Detroit Tigers, 3-0, on Pete Suder's three-run eighth inning homer.

Rockie Roy Sievers drove in six runs to lead the St. Louis Browns to a 15-4 night game triumph over Washington.

The Boston Braves downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2 in the National's only night game with a three run rally in the ninth.

The United States produced more than 3,500,000,000 bushels of corn in 1948 about a billion more than were produced in 1938.

Undeclared Field Narrowed in Playoffs

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 21 — (AP) — Two undeclared teams—Birmingham, Ala., and Durant, Okla.—met there tonight in the third round of the eastern division playoffs of the American Baseball Congress.

Each team boasts two victories in the double-elimination playoffs. Birmingham yesterday trimmed Milwaukee, Wis., 8-1 and the Durant GIs edged the Karlen Cardinals of Dallas, Tex., 2-1.

Yesterday's games saw four teams eliminated from the play-offs. Out with two defeats each were New Haven, Conn., Dixfield, Me., Grayson, Ky., and New York City.

New Haven lost to Havana, 6-5; Dixfield was dropped by Hammond, Ind., 2-1; Grayson bowed to Little Rock, Ark., 5-0; and New York was swamped by Akron, O., 11-1.

Third round games:
Akron, O. vs. Havana, Ill.
Dallas, Tex. vs. Milwaukee, Wis.
Birmingham, Ala. vs. Durant, Okla.

El Dorado Is Trying Hard to Be Underdog

Word comes from El Dorado that the Wildcats are desperately trying to work themselves into an underdog position when they entertain the Bobcats on their own field Friday night in non-league play. The Wildcats are not high school tilters.

In fact the oil city sports casters are rating the Bobcats second only to Little Rock in Arkansas and are painting a dark picture for their favored Wildcats.

All this merely brings a grin to the Hope coaches and fans who know that the Bobcats have 7 letters on the entire squad, an actually an untold number in the high school ranks.

Here's what the El Dorado scribe has to say:
"In the opinion of many local gridiron followers, the Wildcats are facing a tough task to prove to be the team next to the Little Rock Tigers in the 1949 Arkansas football picture."

"The Bobcats have everything," was the report brought back by scouts to the local coaching staff in the drubbing handed Prescott by the Bobcats.

Hope has depth, power, speed and deception, and its aerial game is some of the best we have seen in high school circles," the scouts continued.

The Bobcats have most of the prayers from last year's squad, and which won over the Wildcats, a number of new boys who are performing in fine style. Hope lost only Sutton and Britt from the 1948 team.

The Wildcats resumed work at Memorial Stadium yesterday afternoon after their second triumph of the season against the Fort Smith Grizzlies.

The Cats emerged from the game in fair condition, although Jerry Hartsch suffered an injury and may be out of action for a time. Raymond Simmons probably will not be able to play against Hope.

One of the largest crowds of the year for local games is expected Friday.

DiMaggio, who has not played since last Saturday, was reported to be "much improved" since yesterday.

Game Wardens May Get Short Wave Radios

Little Rock, Sept. 21 — (UP) — Arkansas game wardens will be able to keep in touch with their headquarters here by shortwave radio within a few months.

Plans for the radio system were approved by the state game and fish commission in a two-day meeting completed here late yesterday. The central office for the system will be in the Little Rock, with six fixed stations near Hope, Mountain View and Mount Magazine.

Commission Secretary T. A. McAmis said the radio system would coordinate the work of the wardens and provide better service. He pointed out that during deer season a large number of hunters usually is concentrated in a small area with frequent accidents and law violations the result.

Heretofore, he said, he has been difficult to get in touch with the wardens or for them to contact headquarters. McAmis added that the radio system would help correct these situations.

The commission also ordered a new regulation governing non-resident bow and arrow hunters, following the opening of several new deer-hunting areas this fall.

The former actors' agent, who said some of his information came from the Hollywood vice squad, said that the girls lured their victims to hotels and tourist cabins for the blackmail parties.

Behrman, currently out of jail on appeal from a grand larceny conviction, said he was an undercover man for the governor's crime commission and the U. S. attorney. He said he formerly sold ads for Hollywood Night Life mag-
